

Table of contents

List of illustrations	IX
Introduction
Aim, method, and tools	1
Aeschylus' Geloan plays: method	4
Overview	6
Chapter 1. Aeschylus and Sicily in the 470s
The poet	13
The commission of Nymphs of Mount Aetna	16
Sicily and the Prometheuses	21
The Syracusan production of Persians	28
Himera	35
Acragas	40
Selinus	44
Chapter 2. Aeschylus goes to Gela
The colony of Gela: foundation and development	53
Gela's heyday and the Dinomenid period	62
Gela at the end of the Dinomenid tyranny	73
Aeschylus' visit to Gela: when, why, how	85
Further evidence of Aeschylus' family in Sicily?	89
Chapter 3. The Pers̄ia tetralogy
The Pers̄ia tetralogy and the issue of Chamber-builders	93
The Argive myth of Perseus at Gela	97
Sicelicisms in the Pers̄ia	98
Chapter 4. Cretan women
The play	101
Cretan women and Gela	102
Chapter 5. Carians or Europe
The setting of the play and political overtones	105
From Caria to Gela via Sarpedon and Tlepolemus	107
On the case against the authenticity of Carians	111

Chapter 6. Daughters of the sun
Content	113
Phaethon's mother	117
Euripides' Phaethon and Sophocles' guinea-fowls	128
The topicality of Heliades	131
Amber, the Ligurians, and Cycnus	142
Epaphus	158
Carians and Heliades between Homer and Theocritus Idyll 16	159
Figures	163
Chapter 7. A Creto-Rhodian tetralogy including Glaucus of the sea
A loosely-knit tetralogy	211
The satyr-play Glaucus of the sea	212
Summing up	219
Chapter 8. The Odyssia tetralogy
The tetralogy and Gela	221
The setting of Soul-raisers	222
The prophecy in Soul-raisers	230
The tragedy Penelope	240
The third play Bone-gatherers	241
The satyr-play: Circe or Sisyphus?	259
Chapter 9. The anecdote of Aeschylus' death
The sources	267
The reality	272
The lie: topoi, symbols, and intertextuality	274
Chapter 10. Aeschylus post mortem
Aeschylus as a hero	285
The topography of Aeschylus' tomb	290
Aeschylus' epitaph	296
Aeschylus' fortune among the western Greeks	302
Athenian reactions: pro-heroic honours	308
Bibliography	317
Index of things, places, individuals mentioned in the text	347
Index locorum	368
Index inscriptionum	380